A reporter of THE SUN yesterday visited the headquarters of the New York State division and found ex-President I. B. Potter there in company with Secretary-Treasurer Bull Patter was asked if it was not strange that that there had been no invitations for bids for a new Bulletin, inasmuch as the contract with sterling Elliott had been broken. The ex-

President replied: "It is very strange indeed and looks as if something was wrong. If the matter drags along to the assembly next month the League will find itself in the position of having to accept anything that Elliott chooses to give or running along for a while without an official Villott has published the fact that he has broken his contract. President Keenan has expressed the wish that the Bulletin could come from New York, but in at east one instance when he was approached and asked for specifications upon which a bid would be made he failed to furnish them. The greumstances aroused a suspicion in the minds of some New Yorkers that there was a plan on cost to turn the Bulletin over to the charge of a not to turn the Builetin over to the charge of a scal trade paper. Ex-President Potter when his idea was bronched said that if it was this idea was bronched said that if it was attempted he would guarantee to stand up and oppose it for a year if necessary without taking recess for eating, which expressed the atti-that the New York division will have gen-

In a circular letter issued to League Consuls yesterday Chief Consul Milo M. Beiding, Jr., calls attention to a few facts that should interest wheelmen everywhere and make plain the advisability of joining the L. A. W. and organizing local consulates. After announcing that his policy for 1900 will be to prosecute the appointment of local consuls and the formation of consulates, he says: of constilates, he says:
"Much of the State legislation favorable to League's professional riders for the N. C. A.'s amateurs, and to agree upon rules to be mutually recognized. The N. C. A. would not now agree to such a compromise, and for the League to go shead and give up the professionals and fight another year to govern the amateurs would be like admitting that it was half licked aiready."

The Winners at Tanforan Park.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.-Heads-on finishes were the rule at Tanforan Park to-day in four races. The weather was ideal, and although only fair performers hitched up in six events fast time was made. Eighteen books cut in and betting was lively. The winners were: Rathgar, St. Casimir, Opponent, Sugden, Duke of York and Sardonic. Corrigen took the first of York and Sardonic. Corrigan took the first two races with Rathgar and St. Casimir and the last with Sardonic. The second baby race of the year resulted in a great finish between Rathgar, Dunfree, Sig. Levy and Carlonion, only noses separating them at end. Sig. Levy was disqualified and Conley set down for thirty days for foul riding. Opponent beat Topmast and Scotch Plaid by a short head, lowering the track record for one mile and an eighth to 1:53%.

Miles of England Defeats Fearing, the Former American Amateur Champion. Boston, Jan. 12.-The first of the court tennis matches in the tournament at the Boston A. A., took place this afternoon. The contestants were George R. Fearing, Jr., ex-ampteur champion of America and E. H. Miles, amateur champion of England. Hotly contested games were played, but the Boston man was no match for the visitor, although the latter conceded to him "half fifteen" for a bisque. Miles captured the first set with ease by the score of 6 to 2, but had to work hard to get the second after a deuce had been made by Fearing, the final score being 7 to 5. Both men served poorly, but Miles found the dedans very well, and he had a beautiful backsphere, instead of blocking it in the customary American style. Fearing did not play his best of lack of practice.

Athletics at Columbia University.

A special meeting of the Executive Committee of Columbia's new athletic association was held yesterday afternoon. Charles Chapin Sargent, '97, was elected graduate treasurer of all athletic funds at a fixed salary. W. E. Mitchell, 1901, manager of the football team. was chosen chairman of the Undergraduate Association, and Dunean Bulkley, 1901. secretary. It was determined that $4,000 was needed to defray the expenses of the spring athletle season and collectors were appointed to raise this amount among the undergraduates. Seventy-five candidates responded to Capt.

Kebler's call for baseball players yesterday. The men were addressed by Harry M. Keator. who will coach the team. Ecator was rightfielder and captain of Yale's victorious nine in 1887. He put the pitchers and catchers at work in the cage in the gymnasium. The other candidates for freshman and varsity teams will go in training in a few weeks. Prof.
J. F. Komp of the Eacuity Athletic Committee addressed the meeting, stating that strict amateur status must be enforced in basebail; that only bona fide students would be allowed to play, and that the four-year eligibility rule would be strictly adhered to. The first game of the season will be played on March 31, probably with Rutgers. It is also announced that Columbia who meet the University of Chicago late in the season. Owing to the graduation of so many players, practically a new team will have to be formed. Of the old players and substitutes still in college are J. Marcus, 1902, and R. dackson, 1901, pit-hers; Capt. Kebler, catcher;
J. Milke, 1900, first base; R. Rodgers, third base, and J. A. Edwards, center fielder. who will coach the team | Keator was right.

Brooklyn Girls Play Baskethall. The first of the series of basketball games between the girl teams of the Erasmus Hall High School and the Manual Training High School of Brooklyn was decided yesterday at Maltby's Academy, Brookly . Play was fast from the call of time. The blocking, passing and dodging were good, but the Manual girls. elad in pretty blue and orange bloomer gymnasium costumes, the school colors, were gymnasium costumes, the school colors, were the more proficient in shooting for goals. No fouls were thrown during the match.

In the first half Miss Lazette threw a basket for Erasmas, while for Manual Miss Vanolinda and Miss Holler made fine field baskets, leaving the score of the half, 4 points to 2 in favor of Manual. In the second period the Erasmus Hail team was blanked despite good efforts for goal. For Manual Miss Vanolinda sent a long diagonal shoot that scored and Miss Rathjahn made a good straight shot that netted a field goal. There was no further scoring. The final tally was: Manual Training, 8 points; I rasmus Hall, 2 points. The teams lined up as follows:

CHADWICK TELLS OF SANTIAGO.

Smashing of Cervera's Fleet, He Says,

Marked the End of the War.

Capt. French E. Chadwick, who was Rear Admiral Sampson's chief of staff and commander of the flagship New York during the Spanish war, addressed the Geneological and Biographical Society last evening on the naval campaign against the Spaniards with reference to Cuba and Puerto Rico. Capt. Chadwick sketched the operations of the fleet from April 21 to the fall of Santiago, He said that not the fall of the city, but the destruction of the fleet of Admiral Cervera, marked the end of the war, since, without a fleet on this side of the Atlantic, Spain was doomed so far as her colonles were concerned. Referring to the early attempt to blockade Cuba with the lows and three other ships, Capt, Chadwick pointed out its futility and, drawing attention to the employment of our fast cruisers in the Flying Squadron, stationed at Hampton Roads, he remarked: "These ought all to have gone to Cuba; but our friends at home were badly be, in miniature, a companion piece of naval be, in miniature, a companion piece of naval prowess to the reduction of Guam. When the Buena Ventura's skipper saw the Yankee warships he set his colors and saluted. The American fleet, although ready for emergencies, was not looking for trouble just then. "If he hadn't hoisted his colors," Capt. Chadwick said, "he wouldn't have been taken." Speaking of the exigencies of blockade duty, he said that the telephone system on the ships proved unreliable, and that it became necessary to fall back upon oral transmissions of orders, even chaplains being impressed into the service. sary to fall back upon oral transmissions of orders, even chaplains being impressed into the service.

Capt. Charlwick did not speak Schley's name. He referred to him or his command twice, in the remark about the flying squadron, alrendy mentioned, and again when, in talking of Sampson's effort to catch up with Cervera and head off Schley, he said that upon hearing that the Commodore in command of the squadron sent from Clenfuegos to Santiago, arriving there on June I, and establishing a blockade at once. The commander-in-chief determined to go at once to Santiago, arriving there on June I, and establishing a blockade at once. The commander-in-chief also at once ested the batteries, his chief-of-staff said, to find out their probable efficacy against the searchlight watch which he purpossel setting on the mouth of the harbor, under the Morro; and learning what he wanted to know of their ability to shoot. Admiral Sampson put in operation that searchlight blockade which proved so spectacular as well as so effective a feature of the Santiago naval campaign. Capt. Chadwick remarked that the utility of the searchlight blockade was not established in general factics by the Santiago experience, but pointed out its reculiar apolitositon to the narrow-necked harbor of the Santiago type.

"This use of the searchlight," he said, "was certalny one of the basic elements of our success. Had Cervera been able to make a sortie at night the chance of at least one of his ships escaping would have been much greater."

The Wost Remarkable Glove Offer Ever Made

59c. to $5.00 instead of $1.25 to $10. Gloves for Everybody---Men, Women and Children.

This is the most unusual and most interesting collection of gloves ever gotten together at one time. They are the entire sample line of one of the very best known English makers (according to our purchase we can't advertise the name), you will recognize them, though, the moment you see them-the name is on every pair. Gloves of all kinds for men, women and children, from the white for evening wear up to the gauntlets of the finest fur. And for the prices nothing in the past can compete with them. The variety is enormous. In the unlined mostly heavy weight, kid, suede, reindeer, Cape Hope sheep, goat and lamb skin. In the lined the assortment is particularly fine—the linings are varied, from wool to seamless cashmere and finest furs.

Men Convicted by a Woman's Perjary of Murder Pardoned in Missouri. St. Louis, Jan. 12.-Jacob Henze and Henry Kaiser, who were serving life sentences in the penitentiary for the murder of Edwin I. Brown, have been pardoned by Gov. Stephens lenze and Kaiser were convicted on the testimony of Annie Boghines, a negro woman, who, fter she had been "sweated" by the police. said that she had witnessed the robbery. They were condemned to be hanged, but this senence was commuted to life imprisonment. Later it was proved that the woman had perured herself at the trial, either through ear of the police or to get a reward of $3,000, and she was sent to the penitentiary. Detec-ive Shevlin made a new investigation of the ment will all the testimony of the negro woman was not credible. He adds:

"Even if Henze and Kaiser had been guilty if occurs to me that the law has been fully vindicated, for the punishment of twenty-seven months in jail waiting for the death warrant to be real and five years of hard labor in the State prison has fitted the crime."

The effort to secure the parson was bitterly fought by the Circuit Attorney, who contents that the evidence on which Henze and Kaiser were convicted could not be shaken. He said to-day: "This one move on the part of the police undoes the work of the courts for a quarier of a century."

Robbers in Chicago Attack a City Official's

Wife and Commit Arson.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—A man and a companion, supposed to be a man disguised as a woman, choked and robbed Mrs. George E. Wheelook, wife of the Chief City Engineer, in her store at No. 681d Wentworth avenue this evening. They afterward set fire to the store and made their escape. The place where the robbery occurred is one of the busiest retail districts of the city, brilliantly lighted and insensible by the police attracted to the place by the flames. She is very severely injured. The robbers got but a small amount of money.
